ASG TO DRIVE AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL AUDIT OFFICE'S 'DIGITAL FIRST' TRANSFORMATION

THE AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL AUDIT OFFICE (ANAO) HAS SELECTED ASG TO DELIVER A SECURE CLOUD AND DESKTOP PLATFORM.

The contract is for an initial three year period, with a value of $11 million.

ASG will play a key role in enabling ANAO's business transformation program as the agency shifts to a 'digital first' approach to continue to efficiently support the provision of first-class audit services to the Commonwealth.

The core role of the ANAO is to improve public sector performance through independent audit and analysis, with findings reported to Federal Parliament, the Government and the public.

Central to the digital transformation will be supporting ANAO's transition to an Activity Based Working model to better support the role of its auditors, who are off-site and mobile for a majority of time.

A secure, mobile work environment is critical to the success of the new working arrangements, with ASG delivering a tailored set of 'as a service' offerings including Service Desk, Desktop, Security and Service Management Services and 'Infrastructure as a Service'.

ASG Chief Operating Officer Dean Langenbach said the company's extensive experience in delivering innovative, cloud-based solutions to the Federal Government was crucial to securing the contract.

"ASG was one of the first IT providers to partner with Federal Government agencies to deliver true digital transformation," said Mr Langenbach.

"We have well-established methodologies and expertise, which we are looking forward to delivering for ANAO.

"We have a flexible commercial model, with agility built into the core of our contracts to ensure that our solutions are the best fit for each customer, delivering scalability, efficiency and significant cost savings."

ASG is currently transitioning Airservices Australia to a Secure Cloud Platform and full 'Desktop as a Service' as part of an $85 million contract, which was announced in April this year.

The company has also delivered secure digital transformation solutions at the Department of Communications and Department of Finance.
